This calendar was made possible thanks to our wonderful carers.

All the photos in this calendar were taken by our carers.

The photos are of places in Ireland that are special to them.

It was an awesome challenge to pick the 12 winners of this photo competition!

“Powerscourt Waterfall - this place is special and soothing to me.
The sound of the waterfall is one of the most beautiful sounds of nature.
I love coming back here after a long week of work. It’s my reset.”

“The place is the Heywood Gardens, in Ballinakill, in county Laois. As a photography enthusiast and a Nature lover, this place allows me to enjoy both. The forest, the gardens and the water lily-covered river change with each season, making every walk a real pleasure”

“My photograph was taken in the Dublin National Botanic Gardens - a place that never fails to remind me how beautiful our Earth is, and how even the smallest things can spark wonder. Each visit reveals something new, something quietly extraordinary. It’s hard to believe such peace exists in the heart of a bustling city.”

“Almost every day just outside my house I can interact with these beautiful grass-fed cattle where signs of contentment like delight and walking freely are visible. Their condition is brilliant as well as their social interaction. I find it very relaxing when I call them and they come near me with their bright eyes, a clean shiny coat, and a wet, shiny nose. I am an animal lover so. It just makes my day.”
